Nominations will be assessed against the evaluation criteria listed below. Please ensure you provide the appropriate detailed information in order for the review committee to assess the candidates accordingly.

Note: nominations will be assessed against the following evaluation criteria:

1. Impact of nominee's research on and advancement of cardiovascular sciences both in Canada and internationally (e.g. tool or a guideline) over the last ten years;
2. Relevance/application/impact of the nominee's research to a clinical setting (i.e. "research to practice to policy");
3. Demonstrated strength and reputation of the nominee in the field of cardiovascular sciences in Canada and internationally; and
4. Impact of the nominee's mentorship and training environment on the development of young scientists and other highly qualified personnel in Canada and internationally.

NOTE: The nominee must NOT have received an ICRH partnered Mid-Career Award in the past. Nominations for highly competitive candidates not selected will be carried forward for consideration up to three (3) consecutive years from the original nomination year.
